Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

Group I. Claims 1, 2, and 7-9, drawn to the invention "a performance information monitoring method using a computer," classified in class 702, subclass 186, i.e.,

class 702	[Data Processing: Measuring, Calibration, or Testing], subclass 186	[Computer and peripheral benchmarking].

Group II. Claims 3-6 and 10, drawn to the invention (a)-(c):

- a. (Claims 3-4) "a screen displaying method using a first computer";
- b. (Claims 5-6) "a program implemented by a computer for displaying performance information on a display screen of a first computer";
- c. (Claim 10) "a performance information displaying system using a first computer"; classified in class 715, subclass 745, i.e.,

class 715	[Data Processing: Presentation Processing of Document, Operator Interface Processing , and Screen Saver Display Processing]
subclass 745	[Based on stored usage . . . profile].

2. Inventions Group I and Group II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because: a method of monitoring performance information in a computer does not require a method of display using a computer. The subcombination has separate utility because: a method of displaying information about a computer does not require that the displayed information include performance information.

Art Unit: 2186

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
